Annotated Bibliographies for Students and Adults

by Judith Stanford Miller, M.Ed., M.A.

Oct. 12, 2023

Dear Viewers,

Thank you for joining us in keeping this important history alive! I have read each book in these two annotated bibliographies and am excited to pass along my strong recommendation for each one. History is about people, people who are often caught up in events way beyond their control. In reading about their lives, often tragic and heartbreaking, I wondered what I would have done if I had found myself in their situation. History helps us live in the present but it also informs our future. Life lessons from the amazing people you will meet in these books literally jumps off the pages. As you will see, I have had the honor of personally interviewing some of the authors.

I would love to discuss these books with you. Stay tuned for information about the launch of our online Courage in the Clouds* Book Club and Podcast that will debut in January 2024.
